The town enjoyed a vogue in the 19th century when all manner of fashionable folk (including Beethoven and Chopin) rolled up to take the medicinal waters. Visitors can still indulge in a number of treatments here, including the drinking of the whiffy spring waters, but most Western visitors prefer to try out Becherovka, the town's signature herbal liqueur.

Explore the rich interiors (April-October) as your guide charts the castle's history, take a guided stroll in the old town and enjoy the opportunity to view Church of St. Vitus, another of Cesky's landmarks and home to a stunning baroque altar.
